

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method which increases the attention of Internet users to ads displayed on web pages. The system randomly displays a modified ad giving the user that notices it, the chance to win a prize. The system involves a set of processes to create the web pages with random modified ads and to handle the client request.